INTERIOR OF SAN MIGUEL CHURCH, SANTA FE, NEW MEXICO

118210-N

THE HERMITAGE ART COMPANY CHICAGO

The city of Santa Fe, permanently settled by Europeans in 1605, antedates the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers at Plymouth Rock by fifteen years. Old Spanish wood-carvings and Spanish and Italian oil-paintings may be seen in the church. The date of the rebuilding of San Miguel, 1710, by the Marquez de Penuela, is carved on the main beam of the gallery.
